GREENSBORO COLLEGE • GREENSBORO, N. C.

C. C. welcomes in the holiday season with a festive formal.

The days

*The Freshmen have arrived . . .
 . . . green, ambitious, and full of high aspirations for the year ahead.*

The men's dorm is as educational as the classroom . . . probably more so.

we remember...

— at G. C.

where

*. . . a group, some songs,
a night of fellowship . . .*

we made

A hopeful Emerson president greet's excited Freshmen at the society formals

... a book, a pen, some paper ... another new semester and more classes

new friends...

*A quiet moment alone . . .
a book . . . and time for thought*

Yes . . . there are ten girls for every boy at G. C.

Between classes and dinner time . . . a few moments together, a walk at dusk.

But can't you see . . . I'm already healthy and strong and physically fit.

— and together began...

The facets of college life . . . We realize the importance of learning.

to work
to play

But afternoons are never completely devoted to study.

Reverence . . . the keynote of campus living.

to worship and be gay

. . . And occasionally our enthusiasm bubbles over in a big way.

For over thirty years you have been a part of G. C. We have seen you give of yourself unselfishly to the college ... a quality which is invaluable. Your friendliness, the pat on our backs when we were discouraged, and your sincere interest in us have warmed our hearts and made us thankful for someone like you.

Because of your genuine love for people and life in general, you have endeared yourselves to the students.
We can only hope that during our four years here, we have acquired some of your attitude of good will.

For just being "you," we dedicate our Echo to you,
Mr. Roy and Katie.

Dedication

... We made new friends

and together began ...

SENIOR MARSHALS

Throughout the year, the marshals, chosen in the spring from the rising Senior Class, serve G. C. in various ways. They are called upon for functions in Odell, such as the Town Meeting on Books, concerts, and recitals. Graduation is the busiest time for the marshals with preparation for the Daisy Chain, Baccalaureate sermon, faculty receptions, and graduation exercises. The chief marshal is elected by the Senior Class, and she, with the help of the Dean of Students, chooses the other marshals.

to work

Through our work, we can see evidences of progress toward a unified whole. We all have special talents and abilities, and none are insignificant; each contributes its individuality to the totality of expression. We are individuals in our contributions, but a group in our integrity.

STUDENT CO-ORDINATION BOARD

Serving to integrate all student activities, the Student Co-ordination Board is a vital organization on the campus. Meeting weekly to discuss current activities and problems, the Board keeps the campus life running smoothly.

Three officers are elected annually to serve on the Co-Board. Serving with them are the presidents of principal organizations; acting as advisors are the Deans of Students.

Not only does the Board enforce certain regulations, but it also provides opportunities for students to gain training in leadership. In addition, it represents the student body before the administration.

WOMEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

A vital and actively functioning organization on campus, the Women's Student Government Association is concerned with the government of all women students and has as members all the women students. The Executive officers, a council representative from each class, and the house presidents make up the Executive Council.

The Executive Council, with the exception of the house presidents, acts as the Judicial Board. This part of the W. S. G. A. deals with all violations of women's regulations. The members are sworn to secrecy and judge every case individually and treat it accordingly.

MEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Upon arriving at G. C. men students are automatically members of the Men's Student Government Association. Officers are elected in the spring and include representation of both resident men and day students. The M. S. G. A. is a vital organization on campus in that it strives to establish a sense of responsibility in all men students, in order to develop high social and academic standards.

STATE STUDENT LEGISLATURE

The State Student Legislature usually meets in late fall and is composed of representatives from around twenty N. C. colleges who are interested in government and politics. Meeting in the Capitol in the Senate and House Chambers, these students conduct their three-day meeting along the exact lines of the State Legislature. Officials are elected, and the session continues as resolutions are made and bills passed. Awards are given to the best bill in each house and also the best man and woman debater.

C. C. representatives gain valuable experience in governmental affairs by taking part in the State Student Legislature and, indeed, are preparing themselves as future political followers and leaders.

NATIONAL STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

The United States National Students Association is a confederation of student bodies at 400 American colleges and universities represented through their democratically-elected student governments. USNSA works to discover and to represent accurately the interests, problems and aspirations of the American student. This year an NSA Board was established as a subsidiary agency to the Coordinating Board in order to aid in the implementation of NSA policies and programming on our campus. The activities are divided among four commissions: International Affairs, Student Government Affairs, Educational Affairs, and Student Affairs. Ruth Thompson has served as NSA Coordinator this year.

Members of Gamma Iota Sigma are outstanding in every phase of student life. Further qualifications are classification as a junior or senior and the scholastic requirements designated by Phi Beta Kappa.

The Junior Honor Society was organized in 1938. This society is composed of freshmen and sophomores who have obtained a minimum scholastic average of ninety and who have been approved by the faculty. The students who reach the standards set by the Society are invited annually in the spring to become members.

P. K. CLUB

For the preacher's kids who have moved from one parsonage to another, these months at G. C. resemble settling for another four-year hitch. Drawn together by common backgrounds and interest, these daughters join to form a club whose purpose is to promote fellowship and sponsor worthwhile projects. Once a month the club and their counselor, who is also a P. K., fondly remember what life has been like in a parsonage.

G. C. DAUGHTERS

If your mother or grandmother attended G. C. or Davenport College, you are eligible for membership in the G. C. Daughters' Club. This group is responsible for projects throughout the year, and especially during graduation. One of the favorite pastimes of the club is comparing old rules and customs with the present ones.

FRESHMAN COUNSELORS

Freshman Counselors are chosen in the spring by the Vice-President of the Women's Student Government, from the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes. They arrive early in the fall to welcome the incoming freshmen. The counselors brief the new students on handbook regulations and college customs, help them become acquainted with the new world of college life, and, for the first few weeks of school, stand ready to offer advice from their store of experiences accumulated at G. C.

The Hut Board is composed of six members and a chairman whose duties lie in the area of maintenance and promotion of the building. Two student hostesses provide an atmosphere of welcome on week-ends. This year's Hut Board has tried to provide the students with a place where they can enjoy activities associated with home. Places are provided for watching TV, listening to records, playing cards, or even cooking for the more ambitious students. Dates are always welcome at the Hut.

ART CLUB

The Art Club is composed of art majors and other students who have an interest in the field. Under the guidance of Miss Cullis, the group meets to compare ideas and methods, visit art exhibitions, and attend movies and lectures on various phases of art.

In a world of unrest such as ours today, the promotion and establishment of friendly international relations is needed. In essence this explains the primary concern of the International Relations Club. With the aid of Dr. Skaggs, advisor, the group has been able to secure outstanding speakers who have discussed topics including integration, world crisis, communism, atomic energy, and world government. Foreign students and those who have traveled abroad contribute much to the programs with their slides and enlightening talks. One of the principal projects of the club is sponsoring a mock U. N. Assembly in chapel during United Nations Week. A better understanding of the world about us, tolerance for peoples of different nationalities, a knowledge of customs and problems of other countries—these qualities the IRC endeavors to instill in its members.

GLEE CLUB

The major requirement for membership in the Glee Club is an interest in music. One of the larger organizations on campus, the Glee Club offers opportunities for training and travel. Two tours are organized during the academic year, one to Florida and the other to New York.

Performances are given enroute. In 1957, the Glee Club made its debut in Town Hall in New York City. In addition to performances elsewhere in the state, the Club gives two major concerts annually.

MUSIC EDUCATION CLUB

Members of the Music Education Club are those students planning to teach music. Many of their programs present people of local importance in the field of music. The group participates with other similar organizations in giving musical programs during the year. Thus, the club enables the members to gain new ideas as well as practice in their major field.

The Music Education Club is a member of the Music Education National Conference.

MUSIC CLUB

Membership in the Music Club is open to both music majors and minors with a high academic standing. The club encourages high professional standards and promotes leadership and character among its members. Through student reports, guest artists and speakers, and conventions, the club promotes a greater appreciation of the art of music. The Music Club is a member of the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs.

WRITERS CLUB

The Writers' Club provides an opportunity for students to read their words and have them appraised by fellow students. Periodically they gather and in this way, the Writers' Club becomes a sounding board for both prose and poetry. Often the works in question are submitted for publication in the LYRE; the two organizations are closely related in this respect.

Betty Rose, Fayedene Andrews, president; Doris Teague, Penny Niven.

The Math Club is open to both majors and minors in math and other students interested in mathematics. It has as its purpose to encourage and increase interest in mathematics; for through its meetings, members learn the practicality of the subject, hear explanations of fundamental concepts, and discover its applications in the business field. In mathematics one has a language, a science, a collection of techniques of calculation, a branch of human endeavor, and a collection of puzzles.

The Greensboro College Home Economics Club has as its members majors and any other students interested in this field. Its purpose is to develop and promote standards for the "strengthening of the home and family life in our society" through the ideals of simplicity, usefulness, cleanliness, and economy.

The Religious Education Club was organized on the G. C. campus in the early '40's, shortly after the Department of Religion had been established in 1937. The club membership is made up of majors in Religion and other interested students. Activities consist of regular meetings with programs presented by people in fields related to Religious activities, and special programs are undertaken at various times during the year.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

The Psychology Club is a large and an active organization at G. C. Its purpose is to invite to the campus outstanding speakers in the field of psychology and to advance a knowledge of the field. Dr. John A. Hornaday is the sponsor of this relatively new, but increasingly popular, group.

CENEZOIC CLUB

Each year the Cenezoic Club takes field trips to places of major interest such as the Guilford County Health Center in an effort to stimulate the interest of all students in the fields of chemistry, biology, and physics.

All majors and minors in the field of science and anyone interested in science can become a member if they maintain a "B" average in science courses.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The C. C. chapter of the Future Teachers of America is designed to inform the students of the functions of their future jobs as teachers. At the meetings, interested students get an inside view of different aspects of teaching. F. T. A. also emphasizes qualities of dependable character, the need for leadership, and an aspiring to high ideals.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

To supervise the activities of the four campus publications, the ECHO, LYRE, COLLEGIAN, and the HANDBOOK, and to keep a record of them are the principal functions of the Publications Board. Belonging to this organization are the editors and business managers of the various publications and certain members of the administration and faculty.

One of the duties of the Board is to supervise the elections of officers on the individual publications. A banquet is given annually, and outstanding members are recognized and awarded.

THE LYRE

The LYRE, G. C.'s fine arts magazine, represents the creative students on our campus. Its objective is to publish the best of student attempts in art, music, and literature and to encourage more inclusive participation in the arts.

Mary Lou Hutton's year as business manager began early in the fall, when plans for selling stationery to finance the publication were oriented and carried out. Advertisement soliciting was another of her concerns.

With the willingness of students to share their creative attempts with others came the concrete evidence—manuscripts, sketches, and music scores. Sarah Shumpert and Penny Niven began the task of critically evaluating the submitted material with the help of the editorial staff. The excitement of make-up and conferences with the printer followed, and we viewed the final product as something of our very own . . . a representation of the creative spirit within each student on campus.

the ECHO

The days of waiting are over, and it is the privilege of the staff to present the 1959 ECHO . . . a bigger and more picturesque edition than ever.

Through the co-operation of the student body, consultations with the engraver, printer, and photographer, in addition to hours spent in the Echo room (which became a second home), this yearbook has emerged from a mere outline of "the way we hope it will look" to a complete view of G. C. life as it occurred on campus in '58 and '59.

Layouts to draw . . . pictures to schedule and identify copy to write and type ads to solicit proofreading to do before this production could be delivered to you these tasks took months of work with Fredda and Dottie at the helm. Shelby's staff worked hard and spent hours visiting stores and other establishments "gently persuading" their managers.

The grinning faces, awkward stances (although some have managed to pose gracefully), those "caught-off-guard" expressions and the happy times at G. C. as well as the serious moments, all are reflected throughout the pages of your Echo to serve as a reminder that you were a part of it all.

1959 COLLEGIAN

Getting the Collegian to the students twice a month is no simple job, but the pleasure derived from reading it in its final form somehow compensates for the days of work behind the bold headlines. Jean Taylor and Carole Marshall might not carry that "could-this-be-news" look in their eyes all through life; but as editors of the Collegian, they have acquired at least a one-year installment of perception. At the Wednesday staff meetings, the editors make assignments for the following Thursday based on their news-worthy observations of the past week. As the assignments are completed, the jobs of proofreading, word-counting, and typing keep the editors behind their staff members for at least another two days. Then there is make-up, a trip to the printer's, a final proofing for errors, and Jean's and Carole's thoughts turn to the next editions of the Collegian.

Anita Cross, Judy Lane, Mary Ann Odom, Jean Taylor, editor; Betsy Gibson, Betty Phillips Cook, business manager; Margaret Lee Lester.

The purpose of the Handbook is to introduce some of the outstanding students, rules, regulations, and traditions of Greensboro College to the new students on campus. It also includes a review of the campus organizations in an effort to set their purposes and regulations before the students of G. C. and is sent to both new and returning students each summer.

PRESS BUREAU

The Press Bureau is G. C.'s contact with the newspapers of Greensboro and those of other cities when G. C. happenings would be of concern elsewhere. Composed of Doris Teague, State News Release correspondent; David Davis, Greensboro Record correspondent; and Carole Marshall, Greensboro Daily News correspondent, the board gives accurate and complete coverage to general campus activities, students, and faculty. Working through the Public Relations Office, the members of the bureau are paid by their respective employers. For the benefit of G. C. students, they maintain a current display of their clippings on the bulletin board in the Arts and Science Building.

Standing: Pat Surratt. Seated: Harriet Craver, chairman; Betty Eckstein, Terry Shutt, Janice Holt, Penny Niven, Boo Hunt.

SOCIAL LIFE COMMITTEE

Working in co-ordination with the office of the Dean of Students, the Social Life Committee is in charge of all social activities on campus. From making table assignments in the dining room to hiring bands to play for dances, the group is in constant touch with the entire student body. They suggest tentative dates for all dances and assist the dance sponsors in their work. The Social Life Committee also prescribes dress for any occasion on or off campus and recommends standards of behavior throughout all areas of G. C. life.

DAY STUDENTS

In 1930, the Day Students' Association was formed for the purpose of uniting all the day students and bringing them closer to the students who live on campus. All the town students are members of the Day Students' Association. The Association gives the town students a more active interest in campus affairs. Each year the Association cosponsors the Christmas Dance and has parties throughout the year.

Our aspects of playing contribute to the whole of our development. We exhaust our physical beings with a child's enthusiasm for competition through athletics and then become demure adults in formals for a society presentation. Then we escape the limits of our own personalities and adopt a new role for occasional brief intervals.

ATHLETIC COMMISSION

The main function of the Athletic Commission is to keep alive the spirit of athletics on campus. The commission sponsors the A. C. picnic and the Christmas Dance. It also co-ordinates the athletic program of the men and women on campus.

Miss Moseley, Chris Fisher, Martha Barham, Faye Harris, Cletes Pope, Mr. Wold.

WOMEN'S RECREATION ASSOCIATION

The purpose of the Women's Recreation Association is to stimulate interest in athletics and recreation and to standardize and promote ideas of health and sportsmanship. Each year the W. R. A. sponsors tournaments in archery, basketball, ping pong, softball, tennis, and volleyball for which there are individual and class trophies awarded. Also under sponsorship of W. R. A. are the Modern Dance Club, The Splash Club, The Bit 'N' Spur Club, and the newly-added Fencing Club. All women students are members of the W. R. A. which is a part of a national organization for women. It is sponsored by the Athletic Commission.

BOYS' BASKETBALL TEAM

G. C.'s basketball team has not been outstanding this year in terms of a win-lose scale; but the boys, from the very beginning of the season, have presented co-operative, spirited fronts.

The year's tally of games was neither in favor of nor against G. C., as the Courtmen were twice victorious and twice defeated. The enthusiastic G. C. team suffered its losses to Piedmont Bible School of Winston-Salem and to Guilford College in the first game of the season. The loss to Piedmont was compensated for by an earlier victory over the Winston-Salem school and the team's second victory was over the Day Students of the college.

This is the second year the basketball team has been organized; and although the team's inexperience has been a handicap, the Courtmen demonstrated enthusiasm and spirit in every game.

FENCING CLUB

The Fencing Class is a club and Physical Education requirement combined. It consists of about twenty girls who meet once a week. Fencing is new to the Greensboro College campus this year and anyone is eligible to join.

FIELD HOCKEY

Another athletic organization on campus is one composed of field hockey enthusiasts. A fairly small club, it provides versatility for those who enjoy participating in different sports. There is no pre-requisite for membership other than an interest in or a desire to play field hockey. It provides a wonderful opportunity to develop new skills in athletics.

Footsie Sheppard, Mae Moore.

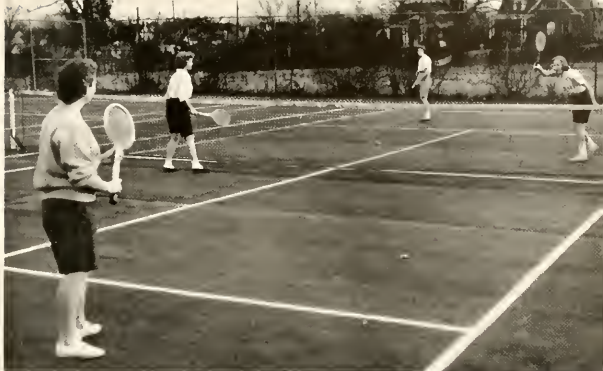

GOLF

One of the newer growing interests on the G. C. campus is golf. A regular class of golf has been added to the Physical Education Department and many students have shown an interest in it. An annual spring tournament is being planned and will be open to all students interested. The spring of '59 will be the first time such a tournament is held.

TENNIS

Tennis is gradually becoming an important activity in the fall and spring months on the G. C. campus. This year when the weather was permissible the students enjoyed playing on the newly resurfaced courts. Every spring the Athletic Department arranges a tennis tournament in order to further enthusiasm for the sport.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM

The year 1958-1959 at G. C. has brought a new enthusiasm for sports and with this came the organization of a girls basketball team. All of the girls are eligible to try out and many from all classes have shown an interest. The girls play teams at various other colleges and it has done much to add spirit to G. C.

MODERN DANCE

The Modern Dance Club members learn the techniques and movements of modern dancing which they use in creating and expressing their own interpretation of emotions and music. Last year the G. C. Modern Dance Club presented a dance at the annual Arts Festival which is held at W. C.

PLAYERS

The G. C. Players is the honorary thespian organization for those students who are active in the college theater. While working towards their membership students do ninety hours of work, on stage or behind the curtain, which is the requisite for membership in the Players. Opportunities for displaying talents in acting, lighting, staging, directing, and make-up are provided. All students are eligible for membership in this organization.

The Players produce two major plays a year, one in the fall and one in the spring. In addition to the major productions, the Players sponsor workshop productions, given throughout the year.

EXECUTIVE OFFICERS

Bonnie Veitch, president; Becky Hailey, vice-president; Dot Wilson, secretary; Nancy Lambeth, treasurer; Benny Lou Kenerly, Campus Chest chairman.

The Student Christian Fellowship can be said to form the very heart of our campus. By acting as the center for united interdenominational religious activities, it lights the way for Christian experience at G. C. In the fall in order to plan the year's activities and to make the freshmen and transfers feel welcome, they sponsor both a party for the freshmen and a picnic for the transfers. Fellowship Teams, Religious Emphasis Week, and Wednesday night fellowship are all a part of the organization's method of uniting religious activity with the school.

CHAPEL CHOIR

Under the direction of Harriet Craver, the Chapel Choir adds inspiration and beauty to the Thursday morning services in Finch Memorial Chapel. The choir also provides music for special services throughout the year, such as Christmas programs, Easter programs, and during Religious Emphasis Week.

EXUBERANT spirits color the campus with their enthusiasm when joy can no longer be contained. The May Court presentation highlights the festivities of the year when the radiant queen and attendants perform in the grand finale of social activities.

May Day . . . 1958

On May Day, 1958, the spirit of the Old South returned to G. C. for an afternoon and evening of activities organized around the theme, May Day Plantation Ball. A busy afternoon was spent at an informal combo party, in the presentation of the queen and her court, and in the wrapping of the May Pole in the queen's honor.

Later, under the light of a full May moon, couples attended a dance honoring the queen. The moon, the rose and ivy-covered trellises, girls in flowing ball gowns, dates in formal attire . . . all formed appropriate additions to the front terrace, the backdrop of the Southern plantation theme.

A terrace ball . . . the highlight of a glorious May Day

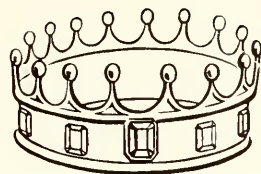

The wrapping of the May Pole . . . part of a busy afternoon

Reluctant to leave the dance, they make the last moments ones to remember
